Nexis Holdings Limited proudly announces its successful listing on the German Deutsche Boerse

Nexis Holdings Limited a UK Company, with its operational headquarters in Hong Kong has successfully listed on the German Stock Exchange in February 2009.

Nexis' core business uses "Green" technological processes to manufacture and distribute affordable housing and building systems made from recyclable materials. The company's business revenues are derived from manufacturing operations, sale of building panels, sale of marketing licenses as well fees received from suppliers of waste and recyclable materials.

Nexis operates in a growth industry, using its commercialised "Green" technology. Nexis is able to build market share by establishing plants and marketing organizations in different geographic regions.

Nexis' global market is divided into distinct regions and within each region, it enters into a Joint Venture with a local marketing/ distribution licensee. The plant specifications and product characteristics are then customized to suit local requirements and preferences; however Nexis uses a standardised approach towards project development and establishment of each plant.

Nexis plants are scaled to process between 250ktpa and 750ktpa of waste per year. Each fully operational plant is capable of generating up to €144m of earnings (EBIT) per year.

Nexis derives its revenue from three key areas.

1. Fees at factory gate from suppliers of waste and recyclable materials
2. Sales of building panels by the manufacturing business to distribution arm
3. Sales of building panels to the market Nexis also derives a "one off" licensee fee from its JV licensee in each region.
